Class of 1936 Supports LPSF

Two members from the Class of 1936 have made donations to the Loudonville-Perrysville School Foundation (LPSF) every year since its incorporation in 2008. Ruth (Powell) Roach graduated from Loudonville High School, and Charles Lindecamp graduated from Perrysville High School.

Mike Bandy, President of the L-P School Foundation, arranged a recent visit with the two 1936 graduates at Mr. Lindecamp's home in Milan, Ohio. Over the course of several hours they shared thoughts and reminisced on a variety of topics, including school memories, their families and personal interests, changes during their lives, and why they continue to support the L-P School Foundation every year.

Also joining on the visit were Mrs. Roach's two daughters, Mary Jean Roach from Delaware, Ohio, and Ruth Ann Campbell from Galion, Ohio. Standing guard from a safe distance during the visit was Mr. Lindecamp's beagle, Skeeter. The group enjoyed lunch at the Huron Yacht Club, compliments of Mr. Lindecamp.

The Loudonville Class of 1936 graduated 41 members, three of whom are still living. In addition to Ruth, the other Loudonville graduates are John Baum and Paul Bowen. The Perrysville Class of 1936 consisted of 25 members, and it, too, has three members still living. In addition to Charles, the other Perrysville graduates are Eureta Wilson and Anna Ruth Sparr.

While discussing classmates and teachers, several names were familiar to both Ruth and Charles, including Mr. Ralph Tschantz. Ruth had Mr. Tschantz as a teacher in eighth grade, and she related a story of three boys whose behavior was less than satisfactory. Mr. Tschantz picked up and carried each of the boys out of the classroom and then deposited them in the hallway. According to Ruth, the last boy was "kind of heavy," but Mr. Tschantz finally succeeded!

Charles attended Perrysville only during his senior year, but remarked about how much he enjoyed his classes and teachers.

2013 Senior Project

The 2013 Senior Project consisted of a miniature golf tournament, played on an unseasonably cold and blustery Mother's Day.

The unpleasant weather, which even included some hail, did not stop eight teams from competing. The winning team was anchored by 12-year old Emma and 9-year old Owen Hinkle, who each registered a hole in one. The two youngsters carried the team, which also included their father, Brian Hinkle, and Mike Bandy.

He was class valedictorian, a starter on the baseball and basketball teams, and played trumpet.

Several other names he mentioned were Dwight Wilson, "Sophie" Zody, Vida Church, and Peggy Gladden. "I dated Peggy a couple of times," he commented with a smile.

Both Ruth and Charles shared similar reasons for supporting the L-P School Foundation. Ruth mentioned that her mother, Mina Powell was a long-time school employee. "I have always supported levies for the schools," she commented, "and I wanted to support the School Foundation, too." Charles talked about the pleasant senior year he enjoyed in Perrysville. "I had a great time in Perrysville, and making these donations to the Foundation is one way I can pay back for that great year," he said.

Growing up, Ruth Powell had one younger sister. Her father died in a work accident when Ruth was in the third grade. After graduating from Loudonville High School, she married Lester Roach in 1938. She worked at the Flxible Company in the payroll and accounting areas.

nine great-grandchildren. She is a member of the Zion Lutheran Church, Women of Zion, and Eastern Star.

Charles Lindecamp was born in Jeromesville. His father was a school principal, and Charles attended several different schools where his father was employed. He graduated from the College of Wooster and taught science and math before becoming a principal and then a superintendent.

After retiring in 1981, Charles and his wife enjoyed traveling in their motor home across the United States, Canada, and Mexico. Charles has a son who is retired from the law enforcement field, and a daughter who is an Episcopal Priest in Los Alamos, New Mexico. One of his three grandchildren was killed in a car accident, and Charles also has five great-grandchildren.

Ruth and Charles both talked about the many changes that have occurred during their lives. Education has changed from small country schoolhouses to large consolidated school districts. Technology has changed the way we receive news and communicate with others.

When asked how today's students should prepare for life, Mr. Lindecamp responded, "Be prepared for all the changes that will certainly occur in the world throughout your life."

The Loudonville-Perrysville School Foundation sends its sincere thanks to Ruth Roach and Charles Lindecamp for their generous support, and for taking time to share their stories.

Class of 2000 Also Supports LPSF

The Class of 2000 started it all with the first Senior Project, aptly called the “Link to the Millennium” human chain.

Now eight members from the Class of 2000 can also be counted as donors to the L-P School Foundation.

Caleb Brecheisen was President of the Class of 2000. He now works as a Park Officer, and is also a Trustee of the L-P School Foundation.

Caleb and his wife Jen have a 2-year old daughter.

Heather (Kaiser) Carr lives in Loudonville with husband Brad and their three children, Brianna, Gavin, and Braden. She works at the Wayne County post of the Ohio Highway State Patrol. Brad is Director of Web Development at PV Communications in Loudonville.

Stuart Herman received his BA from Baldwin Wallace and his JD from Florida Coastal School of Law. He lives in Cincinnati and is an attorney for an engineering company. While giving credit to many teachers, Stu said his law school study habits were helped immensely by Dave Spreng's requirement to “memorize every species of tree and insect known to man.”

Amber (Dresch) Kasper also lives in Cincinnati. She and husband Alan will celebrate their 6th anniversary in November. Amber is shown with her son Brian and daughter Renee.

Amber recalls standing at Maple Heights behind the school and seeing the Human Chain stretching through downtown. She has donated to help her school, and to help future students graduate with good memories from their school years.

Ann Marie (Allerding) Schmersal is a nurse practitioner at Dayton Children's Hospital. She and husband John have two boys, 3-year old Ethan and 2-year old Owen. Ann Marie says she contributes “in the hopes that L-P Schools can continue to provide the education and opportunities I was blessed to receive.”

Other donors from the Class of 2000 include Andrea (Coey) Laughlin, Rachel Smith, and Ben Ward.

Donations and Grants During 2013

So far in 2013, the L-P School Foundation has received gifts of $24,939 from 312 donors in 29 states plus Canada.

Since its incorporation in 2008, the Foundation has received support from 570 donors.

As a result of the 14 Senior Projects organized every year since 2000, the L-P Schools have received cumulative grants of $39,605.

These grants have been used for curriculum related supplies, technology, and permanent improvements to the district's facilities.

During 2013, grant money was used to purchase two MakerBot Replicator desktop 3D printers. These units will be used in the school's STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) classes.
